Baltimore's quaint neighborhoods are celebrated in the painted scenes of Bromo Seltzer Arts Tower resident artist Matt Fenton's Impressions on Canvas, on view Saturdays from August 4 through October 27, 2018 from 11am to 4pm in the Members Gallery of the Bromo Seltzer Arts Tower at 21 S. Eutaw Street. An exhibition reception with an artist meet and greet, music and light refreshments takes place Saturday, September 8 from 5pm to 7pm. The Bromo Seltzer Arts Tower is managed by the Baltimore Office of Promotion & The Arts.

The exhibition demonstrates a constant striving for spontaneity and an impressionist's sense of light achieved by working in plein air. Fenton depicts city neighborhoods along railroads and water including harbors, seashores, lakes and rivers, the countryside and cityscapes.

Matt Fenton has been painting and drawing since childhood, working in oil, watercolor and pastel paintings, favoring a realist style with an emphasis on impressionist brushwork. Fenton studied at the Maryland Institute College of Art, in addition to Mitchell School of Fine Arts, Baltimore County Adult Education, School 33 Art Center, Zoll School of Fine Art and Schuler School of Fine Arts. The Baltimore artist paints vivid landscapes, still life and portraits in his studio at the Bromo Seltzer Arts Tower in Baltimore, Maryland.

The Bromo Seltzer Arts Tower is open every Saturday from 11am to 4pm. Visitors have an opportunity to view artwork throughout the building, including 15 floors of working artist studios and special exhibitions. Guests can also learn more about the historical building and participate in a tour of the clock room ($8).
